September Monthly Meeting: Finding Your Writing Voice Through Spirit

In the Writing From Spirit group meetings, learn how to tap into your intuitive powers and receive messages from spirit as you write. Everyone can connect to spirit and receive these messages as all souls are part of the divine source of love and light. Through the practices of journaling, meditation, and other spiritual tools, elevate the energy of your writing. Learn how to access the wisdom from spirit guides, angels, archangels, and ascended masters and trust in the information received.

If you have always wanted to blog, write articles, a book or even just keep a personal journal from spirit, then this group provides the tools and techniques to help you awaken to the power within your soul to write from the divine. In the September meeting, we will be discussing how to find your writing voice through connecting to spirit. Bring a sample of your writing that you would like to share with the group.

$10 love donations at the door

Hi, I am Pam Barosh, the organizer of the Writing From Spirit Group. We have monthly meetings covering various topics in spirituality, writing, and receiving messages from spirit. There are further discussions and topics online through the Facebook group and the Meetup website.

I am an author, blogger, intuitive, and energy coach and healer, and I believe that everyone has the power to heal through the energy of love. While healing from a serious illness, I began to communicate with angels and learn about light energy and the nature of the soul. I connect to the angelic and spiritual realms, and deliver messages from angels, archangels, spirits, and ascended masters. With a master's degree in psychology and further training in energy healing techniques such as Reiki, chakra and crystal healing, and shamanism, I integrate the concepts within spirituality and psychology.
